

Problem

A reputed research institute of the central government wanted to upgrade its non-research staff to meet emerging challenges.

Solution

A customized training was developed and imparted to the staff. Faculty from a reputed business school teamed up with Marg Atreya to train the staff in Communication, Interpersonal Skills, Team Building, Creativity, Innovation, and Leadership.

Customer Benefit

The staff became proactive and began to focus on value-added research.

Our customized training program transformed non-research staff of a government institute into research-focused performers
